

Struct

1- Using a struct and typedef, create an array of employees with a size defined by a constant, and the attributes name and salary. All employees must be registered at once. Create a menu with the following options: Register, List, Clear list.

2- Change the program from the previous class (ordered list of integers), so that the list is implemented by means of a struct SList and a typedef TList.